

Authoring the Value Key Models Page

1. Label the pages of your sketchbook that contain your value key information, value key chart, and value key models “Value Key Models” at the top neatly.
2. On the pages containing value key information, make at least 10 annotations calling out important information. i.e.- near each major value key note the distinctive qualities that define that major value key in a new and different way.
3. Complete the “Value Key Chart” connecting specific human emotions to certain value keys. Additional information on human emotions can be found here. You should use your Value Key Information to determine the related value keys.
4. On each page containing a value key model answer the following question correctly in full, complete sentences, and in a visually creative way: (Hint: use your Value Key charts)
 1. Which value key is modeled here?
 2. How can you tell?
 3. What emotions can be understood or inferred from this value key?